OLD"LODGE"MEMBERS.

Only One of These Senators Has No Opposition.

F. Dumont Smith Opposed by Several Candidates.

In spite of the compelling interest of the fight for the Republican nomination for governor and United States senator, the politicians who closely watch the corners and try to keep control of the various branches of government are not neglecting the battle for supremacy in the Kansas senate and house of representatives.

and house of representatives.

It is greatly to be desired by the socalled machine that they should retain control of one or the other branch of the legislature. At the last two sessions they have controlled the senate, and they will make a big struggle to retain control of that body.

The way things have lined up there will be enough of the old "senate lodge" left for seed, all right, and provided these seed fall in good soil in the senate chamber, the old iron-clad, bullet-proof railroad lodge will no doubt be ravived.

The only member of the old senate lodge who is running without opposition is William Stillmore of Leavenworth. Leavenworth is well satisfied with Stillings' record, apparently. At least no opposition to him materialized.

There is a total of seven districts which will surely send up senators who are counted as friends of the "machine."

Eleven districts will send up senators Eleven districts will send up senators who are opposed to the machine. In some of these districts, however, there will be fights, but the opposing candidates in each instance claim to be in favor of the same things.

In nineteen districts of the state there will be a square-toed, stand up and knockout fight between machine and square deal candidates.

The Eighth district is Bourbon county, where Rice Gunn is running without opposition, and seems to be pledged to neither faction. In the Thirty-sixth, Emerson Carey has no opposition, and is said to be satisfactory to both crowds.

There are some beautiful and lively contests on in some of the districts for the senatorial nomination. Here are a few of them which should be watched: Between James Getty and E. A. The fight between W. W. Caldwell and John M. Doyle in the Thirty-second district is a hot one. Caldwell is a member of the senate lodge, and wants his constituents to vindicate him.

The same sort of a fight is on in the Thirty-fifth district between G. L. Chapman and J. E. Guyer. Chapman was a man who was generally counted on to vote with the lodge, though he occasionally broke away. Guyer was one of the faithful friends of Stubbs in the house of representatives.

Makes Light of Serious Charges, The Emporia Gazette on Wednesday The Emporia Gazette on Wednesday of last week made some serious charges against Congressman J. W. Miller, the most damaging one being that in relation to his alleged vote on the Union Pacific funding bill. The vote on this measure was cast by congressmen two years before Mr. Miller was even elected to congress. The Gazette now says:

was even elected to congress. The Gazette now says:

"J. M. Miller goes to extremes, as regards length, in his defense of his congressional record, but he doesn't say a word about the one thing in which the plain people are vitally interested. They want to know why he sent them bum garden and flower seed last spring, and they cannot be side-tracked from the main issue by any amount of sophistries.

State officers and state employes commenced to leave for home today, to be gone until after the primary election next Tuesday. Most of them figured that it was too hot to work anyway, and they might as well go home and take a few days' days off. Governor Hoch may not be in the state at the time of the primary, on account of his lecture engagements. Attorney General Jackson has gone to Kansas City, but will go to Greenwood county to vote. His assistant, John Dawson, is on his way to Europe. He figured that Stubbs had a sure thing, and didn't need his vote, and he was not much of a partisan on senatorial matters. Secretary of State Denton is in Torsket. Her highest ambition always has been to make her garden a bower of these fragrant plants. The fact was conveyed to the congressman by one of the woman's friends; and he with diabolical malignity, planned to break her trusting heart and destroy her faith in human nature.

"He sent her a package of seeds labeled 'Sweet William,' and she, poor woman, little dreaming that she was the chosen victim of a perfidious enemy of all Williams, whether they be sweet or otherwise, planted the seeds, and watered them with the tears of her gratitude. And today her garden is "It is not surprising that Mr. Miller endeavors to avoid the responsibility for this and similar outrages by induging in angless particular. Mrs. Klein, who has heretofore lived the simple and innocent life of the average mother of a growing family, said that the sole motive was a desire to see her four children dressed as those of her wealthy neighbors and that the crimes followed the idle suggestion of a thoughtless friend that burglary is not always a wrong.

He remained with this firm for a year and returned to Leavenworth to accept a position as city weighmaster, which he resigned two years later and returned to Kansas City as city representative and advertising man for the Bond Shoe company.

In June 1906 he came to Topeka, where he formed a partnership with George H. Edward B. Kinsella, the manager of Dreamland Park, who said he knew Cornish well, visited the morgue and after viewing the body said he did not think the body was that of Cornish.

The condition of the body left no doubt that the man had been murdered. Three of his teeth had been knocked out by a blow and there was a great gash in the back of the head as if 'caused by a hatchet. The police believe that the man was struck down from behind, robbed and the body thrown into the bay in an effort to cover up the crime. Crane's indentification, however, bringing back, as it does, memories of the sensational case which held the attention of the country for months, probably will result in a fuller and more searching investigation than the case otherwise would be given.

Harry Cornish in 1838 had a room at Eighty-sixth street and Amsterdam avenue, with Mrs. Rogers and her mother, Mrs. Kate Adams. There came to him on Christmas of that year a fancy bottle holder containing a bottle labeled bromo seltzer.

Two days later Mrs. Adams had a head-

Soon after the death of Mrs. Adams the police arrested Roland B. Molineux and charged him with murder, asserting that he had sent the fatal "bromo seitzer". Molineux was convicted in the first trial and then acquitted on a second. Cornish dropped out of sight after Molineux was given his liberty. He went to Chicago, then came to New York and engaged in business in a small way. His marriage to a Baltimore young woman was announced about three weeks ago.

Rheumatism is caused by an excess of uric acid in the blood, which is carried through the circulation to all portions of the system. Every muscle, nerve, bone and joint absorbs the acrid, pain-producing poison, causing aches, inflammation, stiffness and other well known symptoms of the disease. Permanent relief from the pains and discomfort of Rheumatism cannot be expected from the use of liniments, plasters, and other external treatment which does not reach the blood, where the cause is located. Such measures give temporary relief, but in order to cure Rheumatism the uric acid and inflammatory poison must be expelled from the blood. S. S. S. cures Rheumatism because it is a perfect blood purifier. It goes down into the circulation, neutralizes the uric acid and drives it from the blood. S. S. S. expels the irritating, inflammatory matter which is causing the pain, swelling and other discomfort, enriches the weak, sour blood, and permanently cures Rheumatism. In all forms of Rheumatism S.
